Where is Virginia's e-Region?

Virginia's e-Region is strategically located in southwestern Virginia and is one of the East Coast's new centers for electronic information technology, energy, education and emerging manufacturing specialties. Technology giants Northrop Grumman and CGI are reinforcing the region's emergence as a center for technology. Rich in natural resources, the region boasts a highly skilled workforce and customized training programs and certifications for today's advanced technologies. Virginia's e-Region includes Buchanan, Dickenson, Lee, Russell, Scott, Tazewell and Wise counties and the City of Norton.

Virginia Coalfield Economic Development Authority

Virginia's e-Region is marketed by the Virginia Coalfield Economic Development Authority, a regional economic development authority created by the Virginia General Assembly in 1988 to enhance and diversify the region's economy. The VCEDA office is located in the Russell Regional Business Technology Park in Lebanon, Virginia.
